The Palma Fund

This year marks the second anniversary of the induction of our newest annual giving campaign, The Palma Fund, and it is our goal to raise $300,000 in donations. What makes the Palma Fund unique is its directness. Through a gift to the Palma Fund, you are taking on the everyday challenges of running a school. From tuition gaps to scholarships, from broken light bulbs to classroom equipment, your gift has an immediate and significant impact for the school, but more importantly for the individual students. The changes we are able to make through money donated to the Palma Fund, are changes that are utilized and appreciated by our students on a daily basis. Here at Palma we are always conscious of our mission statement. It is our goal to educate young men with a commitment to excellence, guiding them not only intellectually, spiritually and morally, but also leading them physically and socially as well, molding them into the leaders of tomorrow. They show us their respect and gratitude every day, in the classroom and on the field, and what better way to mirror this appreciation than by providing for them a learning environment that is up to the high standard we hold them to every day.

The Palma Fund will continue to be directed by a cabinet of volunteers, representing various facets of our diverse community, including faculty, parents, grandparents, the Board of Directors, and our alumni. This visionary group recognizes the critical connection between annual giving and the vitality of Palma High School. We are confident that their energy and dedication will continue to inspire you to help us strengthen the Palma Fund.

All Leadership Circle donors ($1,000 and above) will be invited to the annual President’s Circle Reception, held in the fall.

Mission Statement

Palma is dedicated to providing young men an excellent college preparatory education in a Roman Catholic environment that embraces The Essential Elements of an Edmund Rice Christian Brother Education and challenges each individual to develop spiritually, intellectually, morally, physically, and socially.
President’s Message

Yet another Palma school year has begun and the wonders of the new term have brought with it all sorts of interesting experiences, especially for those who have just begun their journey at Palma. With this new school year underway, I’ve now had the opportunity of seeing twenty-three consecutive years of preparation and really hard grunt-work take place in preparing for each of those twenty-three starts. As most of our Palma people know, good things don’t happen all by themselves. I’ve been told by many folks that they are impressed that Palma functions like a well-oiled machine and that, to me, is taken as a compliment, especially today with the rising cost of oil.

Those twenty-three new-school-year starts have given me the honor of observing twenty-two classes of Palma graduates complete the outlined program of studies and move on to the next level of challenges where they typically perform well with their new and expanded group of peers. Where our graduates go and the accomplishments they attain after leaving Palma are indeed impressive. But not everyone has a single-digit class ranking in his class upon graduation nor does every senior gain admission to Stanford or Berkeley nor are there great numbers of Palma athletes participating in professional sports year after year. While Palma certainly has been blessed with some wonderfully talented young men over the years, the bulk of our graduates are just plain old well-rounded young men. They have benefitted from a prescribed course of studies in a safe and nurturing environment; they knew what was required and expected in preparing to be a decent young man who, we expect, will not only be faithful to himself and those who love him, including his God, but be one who is not bashful nor embarrassed to step to the plate and do the right thing at the appropriate time. Palma is interested in helping mom and dad form young men who are responsible and respectful, especially to the women in their lives, including mom and sisters and girlfriends. While Palma is not in the business of “cookie-cutting” each of our students into a certain framework or mold, over the period of their stay here on Iverson Street, there are certain expectations as well as requirements necessary to complete the program. And that Palma does very well.

Seeing several thousand young men traverse through the Palma program very nicely has been, and continues to be, a wonderfully positive opportunity for me and for those who have made the sacrifice to “buy” the Palma brand of education. Watching young boys mature into responsible and respectful young men in a safe place is a great testament to what Palma parents see as important and what they are willing to do in order to give their son(s) the very best college-prep education, an Edmund Rice Christian Brother education, right here in Salinas.

These past weeks and months of economic uncertainties have proven, for some of our Palma families, to be a challenge unlike any other experienced in recent memory. Each family that has come forward and told us of their financial challenges has been helped to the point that has allowed their favorite Palma student to remain a Palma student for this 2009/2010 school year. Some extremely generous financial gifts have been given and pledged to Palma; these gifts have, in turn, been used to assist other families realize the Palma experience this year and, hopefully, until their son(s) completes the Palma program. My prayers of gratitude are with these generous folks as they have certainly kept the dream of the Palma program alive and possible for other families and their favorite Palma student. And for that, I am very thankful. We have awarded more financial aid than we had planned; if you are able to help Palma continue to attract and keep quality young men as students, please make a donation to our Scholarship Fund — no gift is too small, nor too big. I appreciate the many that have done much for the betterment of all. Thank you.
Wow! Another year has flown by and so many goals have been realized. Both the new multi-purpose room and the new track have hosted many events and exciting games in their first year. Students, faculty, and parents alike are enjoying these new facilities. The Capital Campaign was completed last January with an anonymous donation that helped us reach our goal of $4,700,000. In these trying economic times, that was no easy task, considering the drag on charitable funds caused by Hurricane Katrina, the E. Coli problem amongst our produce growers and then this economic downturn. It is truly amazing that our campaign committee completed its task on time and with our goal met. As most of you know, the majority of the funds were raised by pledges, and we are happy to report that nearly all pledges are being paid on time, with many even paying off early! The entire project, class room renovations, bathroom upgrades, the new multipurpose building, and the new track and field have been completed, quite miraculously, with no debt incurred. We sincerely thank all of you who supported the Capital Campaign so generously.

This summer, two valued members of the Board reached their maximum ninth year of service. John Marcroft, who also served on the Palma Foundation Board, will step down after completing three, three-year terms. For his instrumental involvement in managing the Capital Campaign, and for his years of faithful and generous service to Palma, we offer our heartfelt thanks.

The second director to step down after completing her remarkable ninth year of service is none other than my lovely wife, Mary Ann McCarthy. Along with serving as the Chair for the Capital Campaign, Mary Ann also devoted herself to the position of Long Range Planning Committee Chair. Mary Ann spent countless hours developing a vision for Palma’s future, assembling an insightful group of teachers, students, alumni, directors, and parents who will continue to see this vision through.

We are fortunate to welcome to the Board three new Directors. Chris Lavorato ’88, is not only a second generation Palma graduate, but a second generation board member as well. Also joining us is County Supervisor Lou Calcagno, who has the weighty task of taking over for Mary Ann as Chair of the Long Range Planning Committee. We also welcome Dianne Irwin to the Board as the Provincial Appointee. Dianne has taken on this post in addition to her job at Bishop O’Dea High School in Seattle, WA. Please welcome these dedicated volunteers as you encounter them this school year.

This year, I was again given the honor of helping to hand out diplomas at the commencement exercises in June. It never ceases to strike me what well-behaved, intelligent, and genuine men Palma graduates continue to be. Parents should be very proud to have brought-up such an accomplished group of graduates. Our future is certainly in good hands with these fine young men.
Principal’s Message

This is Palma’s 58th year of excellence in education! I am humbled by that long legacy of tradition and the storied history of Palma’s transformation over the years into the top caliber of college preparatory education it is today for so many young men. Although this is only my second year of service to Palma, I have truly found a home here among the Palma family of families. So many have extended themselves in hospitality and generosity to me and others here — this is the hallmark of a uniquely Catholic education.

It is our mission here at Palma to challenge the growth and development of the entire young man: spiritually, intellectually, morally, physically, and socially. This mission is a daunting task of the highest purpose, and it takes a real community to make this possible. I am grateful to the many who share with us in making this mission so effective: our President, Brother Patrick Dunne, CFC, the Palma teachers, staff, volunteers, parents, alumni and benefactors who make it their priority to see to the success of a thriving Palma now and well into the future. I am sure that the Founder of the Christian Brothers, Blessed Brother Edmund Rice would be proud of the community he would find here united by his vocation and charism.

Over the past 13 months I have spoken to Palma’s young men about the essence of achievement — about taking risks — about extending themselves to become young men who are LEADERS — by what they say and, more importantly, by what they do — who they are in and out of the classrooms, on and off these hallowed grounds we proudly call Palma! I am challenging our students to grow, to take risks, to volunteer of themselves, to learn from mistakes that will require hard work and determination. I am challenging Palma students to be leaders. I am challenging them to emulate the life example of a saintly hero for whom Palma exists in the first place, Blessed Edmund Rice himself. I tell them to be Leaders — I tell them to be Palma Chieftains!

This kind of success does not just happen. Successful schools are created. They are forged by the toils of many, highly committed people. In gratitude, I beseech you all to share our joy and energy as we commit ourselves to making Palma High School ever more successful. We have a history here of many good and giving people with willing and gracious hearts. I encourage you to continue this legacy with the same generous hospitality of so many leaders before us. Go Chieftains!

This past year has been a truly remarkable one here at Palma High School. Because of the incredible generosity of the donors listed in this publication, as well as countless other unsung heroes, we are overjoyed to report that the Capital Campaign has concluded, financing the state-of-the-art multi-purpose educational center, our extraordinary new track and field, and much needed classroom renovations. You only have to step on campus to see your generous contributions at work, improving the everyday lives of our students. They are truly our future, the leaders of tomorrow, and I know you are as proud as I am to provide them with a learning environment that lives up to the high standards of education here at Palma. This dream would never have been possible without the giving spirit of Palma’s parents, alumni, grandparents, friends, and our supportive community. All have my heartfelt gratitude and I wish to offer Congratulations on a job well done!

Here at Palma we are always looking toward the future. With the Capital Campaign behind us, we look forward to this year, searching for the best ways to improve this institution. The foundation of Palma has always been an Edmund Rice Christian Brother Education, and this year we are again guided by Edmund’s inspiration. Our focus always has been the students, and in these uncertain times, it is getting more difficult to close the gap between what our tuition is, and the cost of actually educating a student. This year that gap is $1,600 for high school, and $1,250 for junior high. Every year we rely on the kindheartedness of donors to make up this deficit, and that is especially paramount this year as we all struggle in our own way with the state of the economy. After all, the challenges of today will be solved by the leaders of tomorrow. The best way to be a part of that solution is to make a donation to the Palma Fund. The Palma Fund provides essential funding for scholarship, educational, and operating costs. This year, our goal is to raise $300,000. Through a gift to the Palma Fund, you are positively impacting the life of each student on campus. This year we hope that 100% of parents will be involved in this effort, and we are confident that with your help and generosity our goals can be reached.

Blessed Edmund Rice was devoted to the education of young men like those who attend Palma, and along with the faculty, staff, and coaches, we in the Advancement Office are committed to providing the best environment possible to enhance each student’s educational experience, but we cannot do it alone, we are dependent on each and every one of you. Please consider giving to the Palma Fund this year, and understand that each donation is valued and deeply appreciated. Thank you for being so generous to Palma!

Institutional Advancement Director

It was in the seminary where he learned that his passion in life was to serve people in a ministerial way. Rob comes to Palma after completing his time at the seminary and his work with campus ministry at the University of Portland. He brings much enthusiasm and energy. In his free time, he enjoys reading and camping.
Eleven Shine in O-Nine

Palma’s mission is to instill in its young men a passion for learning and a solid educational foundation on which to build. Each year we salute the ten seniors whose outstanding performance in the classroom exemplifies this mission. This past year the competition was so fierce that a tie took place. Below are the eleven seniors with the highest grade point averages in their class. Congratulations gentlemen and good luck in college!

As an eighth grader at Buena Vista Middle School, Madison Calder was skeptical of attending an all-boys high school. He recalls, “I remember thinking to myself, I feel so bad for those guys at Palma, how could you ever go to a school like that with no girls?” Fortunately for Madison, as he later realized, his parents had made the decision to send him to Palma in his best interest. Looking back on his four years, Madison is grateful for his experience at Palma. “Palma has done everything for me my parents promised, everything I came to expect, and more. The small-class environment fosters an atmosphere of learning and discussion that has helped me develop lifelong social and intellectual skills, and participating in athletics at Palma has taught me lasting lessons of teamwork, mental toughness, maturity and brotherhood. As I head down to the University of California, San Diego this year to study Bioengineering with a pre-medical emphasis, I could not feel any more confident in the educational foundation with which Palma High School has provided me.”

“I have grown immensely here at Palma, and I have come to realize what it is to be a young man who lives out the values of Christian Brotherhood.”

Daniel Burkhartsmeyer entered the Seventh Grade at Palma with the same apprehension that accompanies the first day at any new school. He recalls, “I did not want to leave my friends and my familiar environment. But, looking back now, I am glad that I came here for these past six years, and I appreciate all those who have helped me along the way. I have grown immensely here at Palma, and I have come to realize what it is to be a young man who lives out the values of Christian Brotherhood. The constant struggle for success has formed me into the mature and goal-oriented person that I am today.” Daniel is looking forward to attending Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo where he will study Architectural Engineering. “The campus, the atmosphere, and the major all suited my liking. Coming out of Palma, I really feel prepared for the transition into college, and for any challenge that presents itself in the future. But, with all the fond memories, I am sure that I will never forget all the values and wisdom given to me at Palma.”

“Palma has done everything for me my parents promised, everything I came to expect, and more.”
James Ramseur is thrilled to be attending Columbia University where he will major in Engineering. Though James is ready to take on the Ivy League, he credits Palma with preparing him to compete at one of the nation’s top schools. “At Palma, I was not only allowed, but encouraged to take a variety of classes. Where else would I have the opportunity to take an architectural drafting class as a sophomore or switch from Spanish to Chinese as a senior? Palma also lives up to the title of a college preparatory school with classes like AP World Literature, where discussion amongst students is just as important as a lecture or textbook. But my teachers and fellow students ensured that my education did not stop when I left the classroom. I took advantage of a number of Palma’s extracurricular activities and encourage others to do the same. I doubt I would be the person I am today if not for the Mock Trial and Diversity Workshop programs at Palma, both of which improved my self-confidence and public speaking skills. This is a prime example of Palma’s ability to develop young men well prepared for the future by providing endless opportunities for growth.”

“I doubt I would be the person I am today if not for the Mock Trial and Diversity Workshop programs at Palma, both of which improved my self-confidence and public speaking skills.”

Matthew Boensel will begin studies in the fall at UCLA. “When I entered Palma for my seventh grade year, there would have be no less apt characterization for me than ‘well-rounded.’ A self-described bookworm, sports and social situations were the bane of my existence. Palma was able to draw me out of my self-imposed exile, however, because of the friendly atmosphere created by its small size. The first steps were a little rough. My first experience with Palma sports involved me riding the bench and taking stats for the soccer team, but eventually, I was able to make good friends, many of whom I graduated with this year, nearly six years later. I soon left my days on the bench behind and moved on to water polo and swimming, where I had considerably more success, becoming the captain of the water polo team my junior and senior year, and making the All-CCS water polo team my senior year. Though I entered Palma an introverted, bookish person, my years at Palma have helped shape me into the well-rounded person I am today, without neglecting a single aspect of my development, whether it be physically, socially, spiritually, or alma mater, which he grew to love over the four years he spent on campus. He explains, “My initial impression of Palma was a rather embarrassing one, “only boys go here!” After recovering from this blow I began to try and find faults with the school to justify my resentment for going there. What I soon came to realize however, was a very important life lesson, that one should not judge a book by its cover. The very faults that I at first loathed, came to be the very reasons that I adore Palma today. It’s the little things that I love and will miss the most about this school. Although I’m looking forward to next year, I know that I will miss Palma and all the memories that I have created here. Palma will always hold a special place in my heart.”

“The very faults that I at first loathed, came to be the very reasons that I adore Palma today.”

In the fall, Lucas Smith will begin studying Biology at UC Davis. He chose Davis because of its excellent reputation for the sciences, the welcoming campus, and the proximity to his hometown, and of course, his or intellectually.” Matthew will join the class of 2013 at UCLA, where his plans are to study Computer Science and Engineering.

“Though I entered Palma an introverted, bookish person, my years at Palma have helped shape me into the well-rounded person I am today…”

For Dylan Lee, the last six years have flown by quicker than he ever imagined. “I started as a seventh grader who was nervous about opening up, coming to a new school, and meeting new people. However, from the first week of Junior High on, Palma has far exceeded my expectations, whether it has been in the classroom, on the soccer field, or interacting with the school community. More importantly, it has helped me grow in so many different ways, and I can safely say that I am no longer the nervous young boy I once was. I have been blessed with so many great friendships while attending school, and our whole class feels like a family now.” Dylan credits Palma with instilling in him the benefits of hard work and perseverance, and looks back fondly on his teachers from whom he has gained invaluable knowledge applicable both in and outside of the classroom. “Without a doubt, the school has influenced me in trying to branch out and step out of my comfort zone, always making myself more confident and more adaptable to the environments around me. I entered clubs and activities, each of which have helped me grow as a man. I grew from a frightened, quiet, passive freshman, to the team’s co-captain with several speeches that I was responsible for making. It truly was one of the greatest experiences of my life, and I have Palma to thank for it. So will I miss Palma? The answer is a resounding “Yes!” I will miss my classmates, my brothers, my teachers, my mentors, my school, my family. I will miss Palma, and it will forever be a defining chapter in my life.”

“I feel so lucky to call myself a Chieftain and I will always cherish the positive impact Palma has had on my life.”

Jacob Ferrari
University of California, Los Angeles

Jacob Ferrari is looking forward to the next four years at UCLA, but takes a moment to reflect warmly on his years at Palma. “Coming to Palma in the seventh grade was the most intimidating, most frightening, and most amazing experience of my life so far. I remember those first few days of not really knowing anyone, not really talking to anyone, and being afraid of the seemingly most inconsequential events. I was young and inexperienced, but I had potential. I wanted to grow. I wanted to learn, and, afraid or not, I constantly pushed the limits of my comfort zone, always making myself more confident and more adaptable to the environments around me. I entered clubs and activities, each of which have helped me grow as a man. I grew from a frightened, quiet, passive freshman, to the team’s co-captain with several speeches that I was responsible for making. It truly was one of the greatest experiences of my life, and I have Palma to thank for it. So will I miss Palma? The answer is a resounding “Yes!” I will miss my classmates, my brothers, my teachers, my mentors, my school, my family. I will miss Palma, and it will forever be a defining chapter in my life.”

“Coming to Palma in the seventh grade was the most intimidating, most frightening, and most amazing experience of my life…”

Zachary Moses
University of California, Berkeley

Zachary Moses will be attending UC Berkeley in the fall, with plans to eventually go to law school. Zachary credits his Palma experience with helping him grow and mature, and will always look back on these four years as some of the best of his life. “The lessons learned, the relationships formed, and the unbelievable experiences will never be forgotten and will always leave me wanting to come back. From the start, I was challenged each and every day in academics as well as in my extracurricular activities. As a result, I grew every day in faith, knowledge, and fortitude. At Palma, there was so much to do, so much to get involved in, and so much to learn. The support and encouragement from faculty and classmates continually pushed me toward success. Over the last four years, I learned the importance of integrity, service, responsibility, and friendship. I have become a confident man who is ready to venture into the real world and see my future play out. Palma’s rich tradition and nurturing environment allowed me to grow intellectually, morally, socially, and physically, while providing me with extraordinary memories. I am very proud that I will always be a Palma Chieftain.”

“From the start, I was challenged each and every day… As a result, I grew every day in faith, knowledge and fortitude.”

John Kenoyer will be attending UC Davis, and plans to study Mechanical Engineering. As he reflects on his experience at Palma, it is the special bond with his fellow students that stands out. “After six years at Palma, it has only recently hit me that it is all coming to an end so soon. I’ve only now begun to appreciate all the memories and experiences I’ve had over the years. All my best friends have been made at Palma, and soon we will all go our separate ways doing different things. I’ve become very close to the Class of 2009, my classmates are like a second family to me. The community we have formed together is very supportive. I feel like I’m accepted and can be myself and no one will judge me. The friendships made at Palma will last a lifetime, not just for me, but for everyone.” Even as I begin college this fall, and make new friends, I know that throughout the state, across the country, and even in other parts of the world, I have my Palma family. Palma has taught me what it means to be a gentleman and the importance of my relationships with others, and though I only realize that now, it will continue to shape who I am in college and beyond.”

“The friendships made at Palma will last a lifetime, not just for me, but for everyone.”

Cort Henson’s six years at Palma have been, as he puts it, “an interesting and enlightening foray into the academic world. At Palma the Expected School-Wide Learning Results reign supreme, like grand marshals atop the lofty battlements of academic accountability, ready to fight juvenile delinquency. Spiritual/Moral, Social, Intellectual, and Physical aspects are to be accounted for in all classes, per the Palma handbook’s code of conduct. Here in the hallowed halls of this sacred institution, I have grown from a lonely boy of the tender age of 11, into a confident, respectful, young adult of 17 ready to join the dignified ranks of society and serve those less fortunate than myself. Next year I will embark upon an epic journey to Malibu to face the trials and tribulations of college. I will set foot upon the magnificent campus of Pepperdine University (on an academic scholarship) and I will strive to live by the school’s motto of “freely ye received, freely give.” As I depart from this crucible called Palma High School, I give thanks to all the teachers who have helped me gain erudition and maturity throughout these difficult years of life. Without the effort these everyday heroes bestow upon us students, we would not be in the same prepared position we are as we begin our life’s journey, ready to show the world how great a Palma graduate truly is.”

“As I depart from this crucible called Palma High School, I give thanks to all the teachers who have helped me gain erudition and maturity throughout these difficult years of my life.”
John Pessagno always knew he would be a Chieftain. “I was in elementary school when I knew that I was destined for Palma. My three older brothers were either attending Palma already or were soon to be, and I was next in line. I recalled numerous stories from them at an early age yet my own experience at Palma is incomparable. Being a Palma Chieftain requires tremendous dedication and commitment, both in and out of the classroom. I have been challenged mentally and physically to uphold Palma’s tradition and believe it has truly prepared me for the future. Palma created opportunities for me to succeed and forced me from my comfort zone so that I would take advantage of them. Although I am leaving Palma and beginning a new chapter, I will always look back at my high school experience as one that was full of fond memories and gave me a head start for the realities of life. I now have my own stories to tell and am proud to be a part of the Palma family.” John will attend Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo and will major in Business Administration. John was attracted to Cal Poly in part because of its similar educational philosophy and attentive learning environment to that he experienced at Palma.

“I have been challenged mentally and physically to uphold Palma’s tradition and believe it has truly prepared me for the future.”

Sean Culligan Receives Prestigious Jefferson Award

Palma High School is proud to honor Sean Culligan, a Senior who was one of six individuals selected for a Jefferson Award in the Central Coast of California.

Sean’s story began over the dinner table with his parents and a family friend. As the conversation continued, Sean became aware of a great need in the Salinas community. With the number of foreclosed and abandoned homes in the area growing, and property values of neighboring homes dropping, there were dozens of reasons to take action. Sean’s simple, but extraordinary service project has given hope to so many. Sean has been mowing and grooming the front yards of as many foreclosed and abandoned houses as he can locate in Salinas. This simple act has cut down on vandalism, burglary, aids local police and fire departments with safety issues, and has helped neighbors maintain pride in their community. With the help of a friend, he borrowed a truck and they used their own equipment and financed their own out-of-pocket expenditures for gas and whatever else they needed to tend to these homes. As word of Sean’s project spread, he was asked to provide assistance to local senior citizens who needed help with yard work and general maintenance. Since that time, Sean has continued to promote his project and has involved and inspired more of his friends to contribute their time in service to our community.

The American Institute for Public Service was founded in 1972 to establish a nationally recognized award for community and public service, called the Jefferson Award. The award is named for President Thomas Jefferson who said, “When any original act of charity or of gratitude, for instance, is presented either to our sight or imagination, we are deeply impressed with its beauty and feel a strong desire in ourselves of doing charitable and grateful acts also.”

Jefferson Award recipients are ordinary people who do extraordinary things without expectation of recognition or reward. By honoring the Jefferson Award recipients, it is the goal of the American Institute for Public Service and KSBW to inspire others to become involved in community and public service.

Palma’s Mission to Mexico 2009

Seven Palma boys built a house in Mexico over Easter break in three and a half days! Include the day it took to get there, a day to drive home, and all the adventure in between, and that amounts to an unforgettable experience. The impact they had in those few days will be remembered for a lifetime.

The seven Palma students, three faculty members, and two parent helpers began their journey at 5:00 on the morning after Easter. They traveled in three vans packed with tools, sleeping gear, work clothes, few personal belongings (no ipods, TV, or video games!), and a supply of snacks. Thus began their nine-hour drive to unfamiliar territory, despite recent news reports of what was thought to be a not-so-peaceful Mexico.

After arriving in the afternoon, the group had time to view the job site, see homes built by Palma in years past, and get settled in “the compound,” a church with a separate dome structure for sleeping, and a kitchen nearby with two wonderful cooks. They also had time for a bonfire with a group from another school. But most impressive were the glimpses into the lives of the impoverished families in East Tijuana. Tim Briley ’11 commented, “After seeing how these people live, I am more grateful for the life I have.”

In this area of Mexico the homes are shacks, put together with scrap materials. The dogs were starving and ratted. Water is delivered only once a day to the residents of the dirt streets. Families were in need. Senior and house-building veteran Brian Rono ’09 explains how this mission can have profound effect on an individual. “Going on the Mexico Mission trip for the past two years has changed my perspective on life. Just being there opens your eyes to how these people live…but then you realize, when you look at the kids, how simple things can be. Sure we gave up our Easter break, but what we gave up was just a week, to change a family’s entire life.”

A deeply impoverished family in Mexico, in particular, had been awaiting the arrival of our young missionaries. For Savin Damkar ’11, this experience provided a new, and perhaps more worldly perspective. “I was given the gift of appreciation, for what we have, that these people might not have…I felt the value of hard work, and teamwork.” The hombre of the house is wheelchair bound, his daughter, also in a wheelchair, has been diagnosed with spinal meningitis, and the rest of the family shares their need for shelter, support, and global kindness. Our boys showed up with all the above, including housewarming gifts.

George Garibay, Palma’s Business Manager, has been heading this mission through the Blessed Edmund Rice Society for eight years. It has been so successful that he is hoping to build two homes in Mexico next year. He is also planning to bring his son along, who has just begun at Palma. Todd Schivo, a parent volunteer, earned the nickname “the dude who gets stuff done!” and enjoyed the trip with his son, Evan ’12. Another parent helper, Harry Damkar, shared the experience with his son, Savin, as well.

Robbie Gonzalez, Maintenance Supervisor for Palma, was a great addition to the team; he worked tirelessly and had the special talent of keeping everyone laughing, including the new homeowners. Another great help was Br. Jason Ford, C.F.C. who not only taught the boys how to build, but also provided spiritual guidance, and led the group in prayer.

The day the house was completed, there were shouts of happiness and tears of joy from the new homeowners as well as the missionaries. Brian Polania ’10 remembers this special moment. “It was a really great experience. It was heartwarming to see how happy the family was with their new house.”

Formula for Success
Palma students excel in chemistry exams

This past spring, students from the Honors and AP chemistry classes participated in a comprehensive chemistry exam, given to over 5,000 students internationally. This special exam tests each student in depth understanding of challenging Chemistry concepts. Eleven Palma students, members of both the Honors and AP Chemistry classes were chosen to participate. Examinees included Cody Hontalas ’11, Jim Leach ’11, Daniel Johnsen ’11, from the Honors Chemistry class and Robert Puccinelli ’10, Neil Lal ’10, David Donangelo ’10, Andrew Argueta ’10, Adam Tantillo ’10, Corey Banks ’10, and Josh Delgado ’10 from the AP Chemistry class.

Members of the basic Chemistry class also competed in their own exam. The Avogrado Examination is given annually to over 6,000 students worldwide. Participants are selected based on their competency in the basic elements of Chemistry. Congratulations to this year’s examinees; Angelo Scattini ’11, Conor Linehan ’10, Andy Wang ’10, Steven Marcroft ’11, James Toan ’11, Christopher Dy ’11, Danny Brock ’11, Shaun Camcam ’11, Andrew Ellison ’11, Billy Wang ’11, Mychal Muro ’10, and Andrew Diesh ’11.

Congratulations to the 7th and 8th grade Track and Field Team for their outstanding performances at the Mission Trail Junior Athletic League Track and Field Championships.

The eighth grade team, lead by Michael D’Arrigo ’13, set five new school records! D’Arrigo participated in the 4x100 meter relay team which set a record time of 49.59 seconds. He also made a jump of 17’5” in the long jump, set a new school record in the 100 meter dash at 12.29 seconds, and tied for first place in the high jump at 5’4”. D’Arrigo earned the highest number of points on the team, and was voted as this season’s MVP during the awards ceremony. Congratulations Michael on these noteworthy accomplishments!

Joel Ordaz-Hoang ’13 also set a new school record of 59.86 seconds in the 400 meter run. Marcus Washington ’13 managed to set a school record in the 200 meter dash, which he completed in 26.07 seconds. Nicholas Marquez ’13 tied with teammate D’Arrigo in the high jump at 5’4” and was on the award-winning 4x100 meter relay team. Noah Allen ’13, with a mighty heave of 37’11”, set a school record and took first place for shot put.

Not to be outdone was the seventh grade team lead by Will Chilton ’14, the top point leader during the Championship event. Chilton was a one man wrecking crew with the school records. He was a member of the 4x100 meter relay, which set a school record time of 54.47 seconds, took first place in the 100 meter dash with a time of 12.76 seconds, took first place in the shot put with a throw of 30’1”. As if that wasn’t unbelievable already, Chilton also jumped to a first place finish in the long jump with a distance of 15’4”, and took first place with a jump of 5’0” in the high jump. Well done Will, Palma is so proud of you and all its fantastic track and field stars!

High School Track and Field

Varsity

Palma Varsity Track and Field had a very successful season, finishing third at the TCAL Finals. They were led by League Champions Tyre Johnson ’09 in the 1600 and 3200, and Michael Parola ’09 in the 100 meters. 2nd place finishers included Alex Bassi ’09 in the pole vault, Madison Calder ’09 in the long jump, Sam Dozier ’09 in the discus, Paul Marcroft ’09 in the shot put and Chris Benavente ’10 in the high jump. The 4x100 team of Parola ’09, Bobby Gerletti ’09, Dom Sintetos ’11 and Jon Osborne ’11 finished 3rd as did Parola in the 200. All of these men moved on to CCS Trials with Bassi and Johnson reaching CCS Finals where they finished 4th and 8th respectively in our entire section. This was a season to be proud of with some great efforts from quite a few seniors!

Junior Varsity

Palma Junior Varsity Track and Field also enjoyed a great season. They finished third in the TCAL finals as a team. Our league champions were our 4x400 team anchored by Gabe Mathews ’11, Tanner Sherman ’11, Danny Brock ’11, and Shaun Camcam ’11, with Kyle Sterrett ’11 in the 300 IH. 2nd place finishes were turned in by the 4x100 team of Brock, Sherman, Mathews and Ryan Morrison ’11, Mathews in the 400, Nik Jenkins ’11 in the high jump, and Jim Leach ’11 in the shot put. Shaun CamCam ’11 finished 3rd in the 800 as did Mathews in the long jump. Overall, a successful year as these men will step in to fill the shoes of the graduated seniors as we look forward to an exciting season in 2010!

Swimming

The 2009 Palma swim season netted great competition, personal bests, and records for our team. The swim team was 30 members strong this past season, a record turnout for Palma’s relatively young swimming program. Early in the season, all three relay teams qualified for CCS. The CCS relay teams were made up of Adam Fahmy ’11, Tyler Wells ’09, John Neff ’09, and Joe Ordaz-Hoang ’09, Aaron Lewis ’10, Matthew Boensel ’09, and Austin Auger ’09. Together these athletes competed in the 200 Medley Relay, the 200 Freestyle Relay, and the 4x100 Freestyle Relay. Adam Fahmy also qualified for an individual CCS event, and swam the 50 Freestyle, while Tyler Wells missed the cut to compete in his individual event, the 100 Breaststroke, by a heart stopping 1/100th of a second! This kind of nail-biting competition was the theme of the season for the swim team, which was right on the heels of the league’s swimming powerhouses. Meets against San Benito, Hollister, and Gilroy, were lost by the narrowest margins ever, and Palma prevailed in meets against Seaside, North Salinas, Alisal, and Alvarez High Schools.

Awards for the 2009 Season were given to John Neff ’09-Most Valuable Swimmer, Kevin Serrano ’10-Coaches Award, Adam Fahmy ’11-Most Valuable Championship Meet Swimmer, Matt Boensel ’09-Most Dedicated, Mario Alvarez ’09-Team Spirit, Matt Lopez ’09-Most Improved Swimmer, Jacob Gumke ’12-Best Attendance, and Mario Alvarez ’09-TCAL Sportsmanship. This year’s Team Captains were John Neff, Tyler Wells, and Austin Auger. The TCAL All League Second Team included Adam Fahmy, Tyler Wells, John Neff and Aaron Lewis.

Coach Dia Rianda is excited for what this record-breaking year means for the next spring’s team. She says, “To those who will return next year, I say recruit your friends to the sport, and train early. You have seen first-hand what hard work and numbers can do for a team. Palma’s team is young, but we have so much potential; our returning athletes are committed to building the program. There are records to break, awards to win, and lessons to be learned.”

Coach Rianda also had some praise for her seniors, whom she will miss enormously. “You are tenacious, dedicated and energetic young men. You have each offered much to the building of this very new team. I especially have been impressed with your leadership and loyalty to Palma Aquatics. Keep in touch and use the lessons you have learned to have successful and productive college experiences.”

Baseball

Varsity

The 2009 baseball season began confidently for the Chieftains with an 8-1 victory over Scotts Valley. The team also had pre-season victories over perennial powers Aptos and Carmel, and won the pre-season Carmel Tournament. In the season opener, Palma faced the three-time TCAL Champion, Hollister. Tyler Kofman ’10 hit a two out, two strike home run in the top of the seventh inning to tie the game at three-three, and Garrett Schwartz ’10 knocked in the winning run in the tenth inning with a single to right field. Other key league victories came over Salinas High (11-2 and 1-0) and Gilroy (4-1 and 7-6). Palma finished in second place with a 14-4 record.

The Palma High School baseball team capped off its ’09 season with a school record 26 wins and the first ever CCS Baseball Championship, establishing their status as a baseball powerhouse. Palma scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to defeat Monte Vista Christian 7-6. Senior Garrett Sabaska tied the game in the final inning with an RBI single to center, his third hit of the day, and senior Chad Whitehead lined a 1-2 pitch into center field scoring D.J. Slaton ’10 to win the game. Tucker Minor ’09 started the game, his fourth appearance at the playoffs, and was relieved by Matt Lozano ’09 and Slaton, who picked up the win in relief. The Chieftains had an incredible four selections for the All-TCAL first team; Jaimie Vega ’09, Cameron DeLasantas ’09, Phil Creecy ’09 and Tucker Minor ’09. All four will continue to play at the college level next year. Creecy will attend and play at USD, Vega at San Jose State, DeLasantas will head to Willamette in Oregon, and Minor will play at the University of Washington. Phil Creecy and D.J. Slaton were also selected by the Salinas Californian for the All-County Team, and Head Coach Phil Giammanco ’87 was chosen as the Coach of the Year. Brooks Leandro-Farr ’10 was Palma’s Defensive Player of the Year, while Tyler Kofman and D.J. Slaton were both selected as co-Juniors of the Year. Justin Terrill ’09 and Tucker Minor ’09 were both given the Captains Award for exhibiting outstanding leadership and dedication. Jamie Vega ’09 received the award for Offensive Player of the Year, and Phil Creecy ’09 was named the Overall Team MVP. These are all well-deserved accolades for the 2009 CCS Champions!

Junior Varsity
Clutch hitting, timely pitching, and outstanding defensive play all contributed to a successful season for JV Baseball. Junior outfielder Mike Sarmiento ’10, led the team in powerful hitting and held the highest batting average on the team. Sophomore third baseman Brandon Pulealii, was a force to be reckoned with at the plate. Leadoff hitter Rex Rainey’s ’11 consistency at the plate was crucial, making it possible for later batters to step up and drive in runs. Rainey was also an incredibly versatile player, lending his skill to every position on the field. The consistent pitching was led by sophomore standout Julian Larimer. Blair Gardiner ’11, also proved his worth as a pitcher coming on both as a starter and as welcome relief in later innings.

In the field, sophomore Justin Regester played an almost error-free shortstop and second base. Mike Valentin ’11 was a staple at the shortstop position and also acted as a valuable pitcher. Sophomore catcher Adam Leavenworth lent his leadership skills to the role of captain, making tough calls and handling the pitchers very well. In all, the Junior Varsity team compiled some impressive stats on the field. With the emergence of this group, the future looks very bright for the Palma Baseball program.

Freshman
For the Freshman, the 2009 season was filled with great competition, improvement by all players, and a learning and love of the game of baseball. The team compiled an impressive record of 18-2 and a share of the league title. The team was anchored by great pitching from its starting players, and great relief out of the bullpen. Brandon Creecy, Ruben Rubalcava, and Greg Salazar were the three mainstays to start games while A.J. Sims and Brad Reyes came on in later innings to close games down.

The strong offense play was led by leftfielder Jack Myers, shortstop Nick Ruiz, right fielder Ryan Sarmiento, and third baseman Morgan Adam. Clutch hitting and great base running led to the team’s ability to outscore opponents on a consistent basis. The job of getting on base for the big hitter in the line-up went to center fielder Brandon Villar, center fielder Justin Uemura and second baseman Andy Steitz.

The powerful defensive play this season was led by catcher Joey Schulman, third baseman Jacob DeLasantos, leftfielder Tanner Carrillo-Zazueta and first baseman Marcus House.

Coaches Nick Noroian ’02 and Br. Jason Ford, C.F.C. were pleased with the way the team came together as a unit. Noroian remarked, “They pushed each other for better results each and every day. With the emergence of the freshman class, the Palma Baseball program will surely be a force in the years to come.” JV and Varsity coaches will certainly be excited to add players who have already shown such incredible potential to their new champion-ship team!

Golf
Varsity
The 2009 Golf Team will be best remembered as Palma’s first-ever CCS Champions in their sport. However, after the Chieftains reached the State Finals in 2008, it will also leave a memory of unfinished business, as the team did not advance through the Nor-Cal Championships the following week. Golf can be a cruel sport in that way. Thankfully, the top six players from this team will be back to see if the lessons learned from this year can springboard them to even greater heights next year. Juniors Matt Ogden (TCAL MVP and Nor-Cal Runner Up), Joe Azzopardi, Bruce Taylor and Rolen Ordona each had many shining moments of par or better golf rounds during the year. Sophomores Matt Pinizzotto and team Most Improved Golfer Sergio Rios also contributed under par rounds during the year as each of them posted 1 under par 70’s at the record-tying 3 over par 358 score at the CCS Finals. The season record was impeccable as the Varsity did not lose in 14 matches and finished no worse than 3rd in any tournament. Along the way the Chieftains picked up victories at the Los Altos and Aptos Tournaments and also finished 2nd at the prestigious De La Salle Tournament, falling short to the host team by a single stoke. Twelve different players earned Varsity Letters.
including Seniors Zach Moses, Cort Henson and Ryan McKalson, along with Junior Mariano Ottone and Sophomores Zach McDonald (JV MVP) and Cody Hontalas.

Junior Varsity
As a further sign of good things to come, the Junior Varsity also posted a wonderful record of 17 wins and two losses, winning the TCAL League again. JV players include Sophomores Brendt Quismundo, Anthony Carrasco and Angelo Scattini, along with Freshmen William Sergent, Justin Buhler and Esteban Cariaga.

The coaching staff of Clem Richardson ’67, John Oliverio ’69 and Doug Classen ’77, were joined by Kurt Dillard, Dave Pinizzotto and John De Santis. These coaches have been instrumental in providing perspective, guidance and leadership to this highly motivated and dedicated group of Chieftain Golfers.

Coach Clem Richardson ’67 summed up the season, “With all the hard work and dedication of our young men, it is impossible to be anything but enthusiastic about the future of Palma Golf. It has been so exciting, being part of such a wonderful pursuit of excellence these past years. And the best part is that these young men are also fine representatives of themselves, their families and their school. Our accomplishments on the course are simply a testimony to their character as individuals and as a team. I am proud, as I know the rest of our coaching staff is, to be a part of this special time in the history of Palma Golf.”

A Tribute to The Leaders of Palma’s Success

The President’s Circle

On Friday, September 25, 2009 Brother Patrick Dunne will gather with members of the newly created President’s Circle for the first annual reception held in their honor. The President’s Circle is comprised of the generous donors who have made cumulative gifts of $1,000 or more in the past fiscal year in support of Palma High School. Along with the Advancement Office, Brother Dunne is pleased to pay tribute to this visionary group of donors whose widespread generosity is in large part responsible for the financial success of our school. There is no acknowledgement or tribute meaningful enough to express how critical these kindhearted donors are and will continue to be to Palma, but it is our intention to attempt to thank them annually for their indispensable support of current and future Chieftains alike.

Please consider joining the valued members of the President’s Circle as they continue to fulfill Palma’s mission of challenging young men to grow spiritually, intellectually, morally, physically and socially. Let us ignite in them a passion for possibility!
